EMPOWERING FAITH IN AFRICA

No voice can speak more powerfully to the unique issues and challenges of the church in Africa than African voices. Oasis International Publishing discovers, develops, and distributes books by authors who speak clearly to African contexts.

BOOK FEATURE

Making Peace with Fire

Making Peace with Fire prepares you to confidently navigate conflicts with family, friends, co-workers, neighbours, and other communities. Making Peace with Fire doesn't mean resigning yourself to costly conflicts – it means transforming them to lead to stronger relationships.

Author Spotlight

M. D. Kinoti has lived through conflict in many areas of life. He grew up in a poor family in a rural community, with frequent conflict between the three wives and his 15 siblings. Tribal conflicts with the neighbouring ethnic groups meant that as a young kid, he was taught how to run and hide in the bushes if he heard gun shots from Somali raiders. In university, he studied sociology and after graduation, he worked with a Christian development organization.

OUR MONTHLY BLOG

This is the key to your life

It's not unusual for people like us to look for the key to a meaningful life.

There was an old man who, after a long, eventful life, had earned enough respect from the people he led to tell them, This is the key to your life. The key was simple and straightforward, and it is the focus of this reflection.

TESTIMONIALS

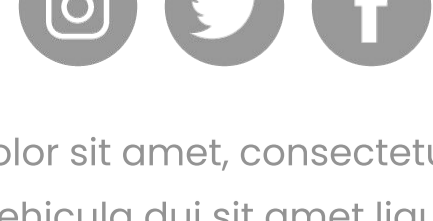

God's Word for Africa

Venerable Mark Wokgam Mukan's passion for the Africa Study Bible (ASB) was obvious from the time he hurriedly walked into our interview with a well-worn Africa Study Bible. When asked about the Bible's torn back cover, Mukan told us "it is because of usage. It is my companion." He passionately added, "This is the work of God. It seems people were connected divinely as they worked on this Bible."

One of the main places Mukan uses the Africa Study Bible is called Gantang Tuwan. Mukan describes Gantang Tuwan as "a place in our village where elders sit to tell Bible stories and tales about the village, ancient parents, hunters, and heroes. Other activities include prayer, advice, and correction of errors. I feel very much at home with the Africa Study Bible. I can hold it close to my heart."
